

Pyjamarama

12 June 2019

Dear Parents

Pyjamarama Celebration – Wednesday 19 June 2019

As part of our ongoing celebration of reading here at NTC, the staff and students of NTC will be having a non-school uniform day on Wednesday 19 June. We are encouraging everyone to come in their pyjamas. Students can of course wear comfortable clothing under their pyjamas, or their own clothes if they prefer. Onesies are allowed. There will be prizes for the best costumes. We will be asking all students to donate £1.00 to charity instead which will be donated to The Book Trust, which promotes reading from an early age and supports families who cannot afford books, as well as schools, providing books, resources and training to support an environment so that reading for pleasure and lifelong learning can flourish.

Students are reminded that although it is a non-school uniform day, lessons will continue as normal and they will need to remember to bring in their swipe cards and journals, as well as conducting themselves in their usual polite and respectful manner.

Thank you in advance for your support – we look forward to seeing your son's outfit on the day!

Yours sincerely

Ms S Johnson
Assistant Headteacher/Director of Literacy.
